Thank you for your interest in this podcast. Because it was designed using UDL framework, you have some options along with each podcast recording. You'll find a transcript, a video montage using a podcast recording, and a follow-up blog post. And while you're listening, I recommend taking out your copy of the most recent UDL guidelines published by CAST. You can find them at www.cast.org Scroll down a tiny bit to the header, "Universal Design for Learning" and you'll see the phrase, "Visit the guidelines". Click there.

For this podcast, I interview educators in the field from preschool to graduate school who are implementing UDL in their learning environments. Some are beginners. Some are experienced. But all are eager to share their stories. I encourage you to listen to each episode regardless of the learner age group you work with, because the topic is UDL - a framework that supports all learners no matter their age. And finally, if you have a story to share about UDL implementation for UDL and 15 minutes you can contact me through my website www.theUDLapproach.com, and thanks to everyone for your work in revolutionizing education through UDL and making it our goal to develop expert learners.
